Basic scientific interests:

- Inflationary cosmology, preheating and reheating after inflation, supergravity and string theory motivated models of inflation.
- Dark energy and the cosmological constant problem.
- Quantum cosmology.
- Quantum field theory, particle creation in strong fields, and non-equilibrium field theory.
- Particle astrophysics, axion cosmology, lepto/baryogenesis, phase transitions in the early universe.

Research Experience:

- 2001–present Postdoc with the NASA/Fermilab Theoretical Astrophysics Group at Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory. Here I have continued my work on preheating, particularly non-thermal gravitino production, and inflation and have also begun to study dark energy and quantum cosmology.
- 1996–2001 Graduate Research Assistant at CITA and the University of Hawaii performing numerical and analytic studies in preheating after inflation including the first treatment of fermionic preheating, the structure of bosonic resonances, and the instability of fluctuations in axion cosmology. I began investigating the non-thermal production of gravitinos in supergravity models of inflation.
